OPTION _ : WELCOME TO LAS DALIAS IBIZA HIPPY MARKET

- 1 On 4th November 1954, farmer and carpenter Joan Marí opened a roadside bar for fellow residents of Sant
2 Carles. The success of the opening party took everyone by surprise and a grand total of 6,600 pesetas (about
3 €40.00) was taken. 1954 Spain was a grey place but, that summer, the island was discovered by celebrities like
4 Rainier of Monaco, all fascinated by its exuberant beauty. Mass tourism had not yet arrived.
5 Throughout the 50s, the success of Las Dalias soared. The story even goes that the Priest of Sant Carles started
6 offering movies, in an effort to tempt his parishioners away from the bar and the dancing, and back to the church!
7 During the 60s the first "peluts" (as hippies were known) arrived escaping from call-up for the Vietnam War. Soon
8 they found their natural paradise: flowers in the hair, the counter-culture etc. The island enjoyed a freedom unheard-
9 of in the rest of Spain. At Las Dalias, one day it was flamenco and sangria, the next, dozens of fervent fans of The 10 Doors or Janis Joplin.
11 In 1985, Las Dalias Market opened with just five stalls. Today, there are almost 200 stalls and around 20,000
12 people descend on the market every Saturday during the summer season. The stalls are set out in the shade of the 13 trees, and sell all manner of clothing, jewellery, CDs, bags, ornaments, and fabrics, to name just a few. There is also 14 live music, mime acts, food and drinks, etc.
15 This is still one of the favourite meeting places for the modern-day "hippies" and a great place to spend a day
16 during your visit to Ibiza!
